Re: Airtels 8/30/65 and 9/7/65 and WAirtel 9/4/65 regarding the "John Barber" whose services King is allegedly attempting to obtain to assist him in connection with a proposed syndicated newspaper column and radio program.

The attention of the Atlanta, New York and New Haven
Offices is directed to New Haven airtel 8/24/64 captioned
"Communist Party, USA, Negro Question; Communist Influence in Racial Matters, IS-C; Martin Luther King, Jr., SM-C."
This airtel transmitted a letterhead memorandum setting out background information regarding one John Barber who, in September, 1962, was President of the New Haven Chapter of the NAACP. A copy of this memorandum is being transmitted herewith to Washington Field.

All offices furnish available information which would establish whether the "John Barber" described in New Haven airtel 8/24/64 is, in fact, the John Barber whose services King is attempting to enlist to assist him with the proposed syndicated newspaper column and radio program. Upon receipt of such information, the Atlanta Office should prepare a detailed letterhead memorandum suitable for dissemination.

All offices expedite.

A confidential source, who has furnished reliable information in the past, advised on September 2, 1965, that on that date Dora McDonald, Secretary to Martin Luther King, Jr., at the Southern Christian Leadership Conference (SCLC), instructed Clarence Jones to get together with Stan (Levison) and prepare two speeches for King. She indicated that one of the speeches is to be given at a District 65 (of the Retail, Wholesale and Department Store Union, Congress of Industrial Organizations) function on September 17, 1965 and that the other would be for a later appearance by King in New York.

Mc Donald stated that the District 65 affair is a family type function because they want King, who is to be the main speaker, to bring his wife and children.

Jones advised that he would take care of the speech assignments but would like to go over a few things with King.

Another confidential source, who has furnished reliable information in the past, later advised on September 2, 1965, that on that date Clarence Jones was in contact with Martin Luther King, Jr. According to the source, Jones and King discussed the formation of a tax-exempt corporation of the SCLC which should increase donations to the SCLC. King stated that the SCLC has received many letters inquiring if the SCLC is tax-exempt and stating that the senders would make a larger contribution if it was tax-exempt. King said he suggested a name such as SCLC Institute of Nonviolence but wants to discuss it with the Research Committee (consisting of King and his top advisers).

King was concerned that if the corporation is separate from the SCLC it will hinder their operation rather than help. Jones said he was concerned that unless it has a definite relationship to the organization, it may become a personal platform for Harry (Wachtel). He said it has to be closely aligned with the SCLC regardless of what form it takes.

Jones, with King's urging, promised to have a full discussion with Harry (Wachtel). Jones said he was concerned with the problem of having an independent operation in which he (Wachtel) could act without having any responsiveness to the organization and King agreed. King said that Harry wants to be the Executive Vice President and house the operation in his own office, which is agreeable to him, but that they cannot build something for Harry because he would center it around himself. He expressed the hope that Jones can convey this to Harry.

King asked whether Dora McDonald contacted Jones about the speeches. He confirmed that she did and said he would be getting together with Stan (Levison) on both of them. King felt this was good.

King remarked that he is getting ready to move into Chicago that he feels they will bring a creativity to the situation that will help. King said they still have problems in the South and cited Natchez, Mississippi. Jones said he was convinced more and more that non-violence was the only way for the broad mass of Negroes in this country, in spite of the intellectuals and radical revolutionaries in the North.

A confidential source of this Bureau who has supplied reliable information in the past has furnished the following information concerning the current relationship between Martin Luther King, Jr., President of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, and Stanley David Levison. Levison, a frequent advisor of King's, is a long-time communist whose secret membership in the Communist Party, USA, has been established as recently as July, 1963.

On September 6, 1965, King conferred with Levison regarding an article which is scheduled to appear in "The New York Times Magazine" sometime in the future. The article which will be attributed to King will deal with the civil rights movement in general and the recent riot in Los Angeles, California, in particular.

Levison requested King's comments regarding the draft of this article which he had prepared at King's request. King stated that he thought the article was good but he indicated that he desired to change a few points. Specifically King mentioned the statement at the end of the article which inferred that the only way to solve the Negro problem was to have a march of 100,000 people and the statement that none of the major cities have good mayors. King felt that the latter statement should read "Only a few major cities have good mayors, Mayor Allen of Atlanta, Georgia, being one of them." King further referred to the statement that the riots cast light on the imperfections of the civil rights movement. King commented that this statement was too strong and would expose him to the criticism of other civil rights leaders. King and Levison agreed that this statement should be modified.

at 12:30 p.m. on Sunday.

The interview opened when he was questioned concerning his intentions to enter the issue of peace in Vietnam. He was asked if he realized that private citizens are prohibited through the Logan Act from participating in international affairs. He said he did not know of the Act when he made a statement that he contemplated writing letters to international leaders concerning the war in Vietnam. He said he is not planning to go to Vietnam but something may occur in the future which would cause him to reverse his stand. He claimed that part of his heritage as a American is to take a stand on basic issues and that dissent should not be confused with disloyalty. He indicated that Ambassador Goldberg has invited him to discuss the peace issue in Vietnam with him.

He was asked if he can anticipate any difficult problems in the civil rights movement within the next few years. King asserted that although great strides have been made through legislation, these acts only declare rights they do not deliver. He feels that the employment provisions of the act will pose the greatest problems. King admitted that President Johnson has done a great job on civil rights but that the solution will require much larger programs than have been enacted.

He was asked concerning the high rate of illegitimate births among Negroes and whether he would favor a Government birth control program to solve the problem. King asserted that this is not only a Negro problem but a worldwide issue and that the Government should deal with the causes which have robbed the Negro male of his manhood.

M. A. Jones to DeLoach Memo
RE: MARTIN LUTHER KING

When asked if there will be more riots similar to those which occurred in Los Angeles, King said that if a massive program is not devised to improve the lot of the Negro masses there will be more riots. In answer to a query concerning where these riots are likely to occur, King named New York, Philadelphia, Chicago, Detroit, Cleveland and Washington, D. C. He said that Washington presents the greatest potential for possible riots. He feels that the issue of home rule is part of the right to vote issue and that unless home rule is granted in the District a conflagration will occur. King said he will closely follow developments in Congress, and if home rule is not passed, he will urge that a "massive" march on Washington be conducted.

King stated he believes nonviolence is the best approach toward Negro dissatisfaction, and he plans to double and triple his efforts toward nonviolence to resolve these conflicts. He felt that a separate Negro party is not necessary now although the Mississippi Freedom Party was necessary at the time that it was organized.
